

YALE IS SENSATION OF FOOTBALL, DEFEATING PRINCETON

DIG GRAVES FOR POLITICIANS OF HAWAIIAN RACE

"Some Day You Will Have No More Power to Make Laws," Achi Says, in Solemn Warning to Delegates at Charter Meeting

GAG RULE IS ENFORCED ON MINORITY LEADERS

Final Draft Passes on Third Reading By Vote of 17 Out of Total of 63 Representatives Chosen By Voters of County

Opposing the amendment which was passed by the convention last night which gave a majority of those present, instead of a majority of all the delegates to the convention, power to pass the charter draft on third reading, Senator W. C. Achi furnished the one supreme dramatic moment of the 57 days of the session. Breaking from his subject for a moment, he swept his arms out toward the coteries of delegates gathered about Lorin Andrews, and soundly berated them.

"It is men like you, who come here to ignorantly follow a lawyer-politician, who are leading us Hawaiians to our political graves. You are showing the world that you have no ability to govern and to do your duty according to law, by illegal actions like these tonight. Men like you make me sometimes ashamed that I am a Hawaiian."

"If you show the world by letting yourselves be led to do such things as are being done here that you have no respect for law or rules some day you will have no more power to make your own laws."

"I am ashamed of this convention. All its proceedings under this amendment are illegal, and I, for one, will enter a protest when the legislature meets. I come here tonight after night to represent my people and to try to make a charter that will protect my grandchildren in their right to govern themselves. But you, led like buffaloes by this lawyer, are signing the death warrant of your own self government."

The amendment so strongly opposed by the minority men was introduced by E. J. Gay and seconded by Mr. Andrews. It provided that a majority of the convention need not vote in order to pass the charter on third

MASKED BANDIT WITH TWO GUNS ROBS JAPANESE

Gets Property and Cash Valued at $230 in Raid on River Street Boarding House

Masked with a black handkerchief and carrying a revolver in each hand an unknown bandit this morning at 2 o'clock entered a cottage back of a Japanese boarding house at River and Vineyard streets and holding at bay in the room the proprietor, H. Sonouchi, and his companion, M. Iwanaga, robbed the former of property worth more than $230 and then made his escape.

A woman working in the house saw the masked man in the hall and ran to Sonouchi's room to give the alarm. As she entered the door of the room the burglar stepped through and pointing the guns at the men ordered them to throw up their hands and back into a corner. They obeyed and putting one revolver in his pocket the burglar held the other pointed at the men while with his free hand he ransacked the room. In his search he found a diamond ring worth $150, three gold rings worth $60, two gold pins worth $15 and eight dollars in cash. The cash he took from Sonouchi's trousers.

After the burglar left Sonouchi telephoned police headquarters and Officer Daniel Kamah and two bicycle policemen went to the place but failed to find any trace of the bandit.

Today several detectives are working on the case, and three men will be detailed tonight to night duty in an effort to round up the masked bandit, who is believed to be the perpetrator of a number of hold-ups and robberies in the district where he worked last night. One suspect brought in today so far denies any connection with the crime and the police are doubtful whether he is the right man.

POET BELIEVES FRUIT IS FOUND "HIGH IN PINES"

Minna Irving, in Poem in Leslie's Weekly, Intimates That Pineapples Grow on Trees

That Pineapple Day has been a success throughout United States is the belief of the local members of the Hawaii Promotion Committee. In every mail come letters from prominent citizens who have been identified with the promotion of Pineapple Day. The big day on November 10 had been given a large amount of advance publicity, and many congratulatory letters are being received.

Congressman James A. Frear of Wisconsin writes stating that he has the fondest memories of the pineapple spreads in Oahu and Maui, and says that pineapple shall have a prominent place at the Frear table. John Schleicher, editor of Leslie's Weekly, states in a letter that he hoped to be able to come to Hawaii in February. He also enclosed a copy of the poem written by Minna Irving, which was dedicated to Pineapple Day, and published in Leslie's Weekly.

Minna Irving seems to think pineapples grow on trees—at least that is the impression given by the last two lines of the second stanza of the following poem:

PINEAPPLE DAY
A part of the Garden of Eden,
All lilac and emerald and rose,
Is set in the sapphire Pacific,
'Tis the isle where the pineapple grows—
Hawaii, the crossways of ocean,
With its beautiful harbor where meet
The ships of the world, seeking cargoes
Of pineapples juicy and sweet.

The wonderful apple that tempted
Poor Eve in the garden of old,
Was a pineapple luscious and fragrant,
And ripened to amber and gold.
And lo! ever since Mother Nature
Has protected it closely with apines
As a warning to fingerers covetous,
And hung it high up in the pines.

From the coral-bound island republic
Where the song of the surf never dies,
To thousands and thousands of tables
In our land of the changeable skies,
The pineapple comes in perfection,
And every appetite suits;
We therefore proclaim it and crown it
Forever the king of fruits.

ANOTHER DELAY OF WEEK IN CASE OF MARCALLINO

Sentence Not Pronounced This Morning on Charge to Which He Pleaded Guilty

Unless a further motion for a continuance is made, John Marcallino, former clerk in Circuit Judge W. L. Whitney's court, will be sentenced at 9 o'clock next Saturday morning by Circuit Judge Ashford on at least one of the four indictments charging him with embezzlement.

Marcallino recently pleaded guilty to the first indictment, charging him with having converted to his own use certain stock in the Honolulu Brewing & Malting Company, valued at $1500 and the property of Julia Bishop Egan. He was scheduled to be sentenced to day but, at the request of R. W. Breckons, his attorney, the matter was postponed a week.

The former court clerk was arraigned today on the three other indictments, all charging embezzlement. The amounts in the three indictments total $3220, being the value of certain stock in the Honolulu Brewing & Malting Company and the Oahu Railway & Land Company.

YOUNGSTERS IN OUTDOOR CIRCLE CARNIVAL TODAY

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the Outdoor Circle's "Kiddies' Carnival" began at the National Guard armory. Though the rains of the past two days had caused the fête to be transferred from the place planned for it—the C. H. Atherton grounds on King street—virtually every feature is being carried out in the armory.

Nearly 300 of Honolulu's attractive youngsters were asked to take part in the carnival and much to the delight of the little boys they were invited to be animals and vegetables rather than kings and princes and it was a very animated pageant that was witnessed by the spectators.

FOOTBALL GAMES PLAYED IN SNOW; WEATHER SEVERE

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless]
CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 13.—Early reports from various points in the country where intercollegiate football is being played today show that the weather in many places is exceptionally cold. Below zero temperatures are recorded and at points in Washington and Idaho the weather is extremely cold. Several football games will be played in the snow, there having been a fall in the Pacific Northwest.

GEN. JOHNSON TO BACK TRAINING CAMP NEXT YEAR

Head of National Guard of Hawaii Promises Honolulu One Like Plattsburg

Some time next spring or summer, or possibly in the early fall, business men of Honolulu and vicinity will have a chance to audit a citizens' training camp modeled on the Plattsburg, N. Y., camp, for a month's training in military life. Not only will they have the chance, but they will be urged to do so, and the man who is behind the urging is one who usually gets what he goes after, being Brig.-Gen. Samuel I. Johnson of the National Guard.

Gen. Johnson has required some urging himself to get him to agree.

LEILEHUA BEER GARDEN CLAIMED SCENE OF ORGIES

Dr. John W. Wadman, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, has written the following letters to the board of license commissioners:

"Nov. 13, 1915.
"To the Honorable Board of License Commissioners, Honolulu, T. H.
"Gentlemen: Information has reached us from reliable sources that scenes resembling somewhat those which are now taking place on European battlefields, are periodically enacted at the so-called 'Volcano House' or beer gardens at Leilehua, adjoining Schofield Barracks. These occur on soldiers' pay days between the 10th and 15th of each month and the drunken disorderliness is such as to require the calling out of the infantry from time to time in order to quell the tempest. We learn through statements appearing in the press as well as through other sources, that on the evening of Thursday, October 14, the demonstration amounted to what threatened to be a bloody scene, if the detachment of men hurried to the saloon in order to quell the riot had not been on time. Firearms were in use, blows struck, duels fought and boots held high in air. One paper states that it took M. Troop of the 4th Cavalry, a detachment of 25 men from the 25th Infantry, together with a company of 34 men from the 1st Infantry to stop the tumult in and about the saloon and secure order. If this is really a monthly occurrence, as our informants assure us, it would seem that it is high time for your honorable board to make some investigation of the serious conditions existing there. It is also stated in the same paper from which we quote as above that the present bartender announces that he is the sole owner, proprietor, manager and possessor of the institution known as the Volcano House."

"Yours very sincerely,
"JOHN W. WADMAN,
"Supt. Anti-Saloon League of Hawaii."

F SUBMARINES OUT OF FRESH FOOD ON TRIP

Reach San Francisco After Trying Journey; Chattanooga's Assistance Not Needed

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 13.—The F submarine flotilla arrived today after trying experiences, including a lack of fresh food, which had been gone for several days. The cruiser Chattanooga, which left here Thursday to relieve the Iroquois, whose oil supply was nearly exhausted, returned, reporting that her aid had been unnecessary. The submarines and their towing convoys left Honolulu October 28.

The Iroquois towed the F-1, and was delayed by head seas and strong winds most of the way to the coast. She is the smallest and least powerful of the three towing ships, and reported by radio to Mare Island a few days ago that she was running short of fuel oil.

Associated Press despatches received here Thursday night said the U. S. cruiser Chattanooga had been ordered to relieve the Iroquois of the task of towing the F-1. The Iroquois, according to a radio sent by Capt. Sumner E. W. Kittelle of the Maryland to Mare Island navy yard, was unable to handle her tow as her fuel oil was exhausted owing to the heavy seas she had had to buck.

SOME BACTERIA MIGHTY HELPFUL LECTURER SAYS

Using a microscope in his lecture this morning at the Library of Hawaii, Professor MacCaughy, instructor in biology at the territorial college, showed to an interested crowd of 50 persons bacteria of various sorts in their various forms.

Special emphasis was placed in the lecture upon the bacteria which inhabit the soil, as well as those which affect the industries of Hawaii, such as the producing of sugar, pineapple and taro.

Not only harmful bacteria, but those that are of aid to humanity and life in general were also discussed by the professor. This is the second lecture of a series of five which are being given on Saturday mornings this winter. Next Saturday's lecture will be upon the subject: "Bacteria and the Schools." It is hoped that as many teachers as possible will be out to this discourse. The lectures begin at 9 o'clock.

Mounting higher by several thousands of dollars than the totals of any week for a long time past, building permits for the week ending today stand at a total of $58,677.55. Fees amount to $118.10.

Linen has proved available for the covering of aeroplane wings. The fabric is coated with casein, which strengthens the material and makes it smooth.

In Sweden the drinking places are closed on Saturday because it is payday, and the savings banks are kept open until midnight.

TIDE OF VICTORY TURNS; ON SOUTH TURKS REPULSE FLEET BOMBARDING STRAITS FORTS

OTTOMAN ANNOUNCEMENT SAYS WARSHIPS DRIVEN OFF AND BRITISH SUBMARINE SUNK IN SEA OF MARMORA—ITALIAN LINER SUBMARINED IN MEDITERRANEAN—FRENCH EXPEDITION IN BALKANS MAKING GOOD PROGRESS—TEUTONS STRIVE TO WIN GREECE

[Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless]
LONDON, England, Nov. 13.—Close observers of the war's developments are beginning to hope that the tide of victory in the Balkans is beginning to turn, and after running strongly against the Allies ever since the Teutons launched their invasion, is now presaging triumph for the Entente Powers.

A simultaneous French and Serbian offensive move, vigorously carried out in southern Serbia, now imperils the Bulgarian forces. The Serbians have won an important victory at Katchanik Pass.

Turks Declare Allied Fleet Has Been Repulsed From Coast Attack

LONDON, England, Nov. 13.—The Allied fleets which have been bombarding Gallipoli peninsula, the forts along the Dardanelles straits and ports in Asiatic Turkey have been repulsed, according to Gallipoli reports. The Turks claim also to have sunk the British submarine E-20 in the Sea of Marmora. This submarine had penetrated the defenses of the Dardanelles and was wreaking havoc among the shipping in Marmora Sea. Three officers and six members of the crew are prisoners.

Says Bulgaria May Become Catholic

NAPLES, Italy, Nov. 13.—The well-known newspaper Mattino declares today that it has good authority for saying that "Czar" Ferdinand of Bulgaria has informed the Pope that Bulgaria plans to become Catholic following the war. The whole country now belongs to the orthodox Greek church.

Teutons Hope To Hold Greece Neutral

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 13.—An Austro-German delegation of diplomats has arrived here for the purpose of regulating the political and military situation between the Teutonic nations and Greece. The Teutons wish to win Greece's aid or at least to influence King Constantine to remain neutral.

More British Steamers Are Sunk

LONDON, England, Nov. 13.—Further deprecations of Teuton submarines are reported today. The British steamer Sir Richard Awdry has been sunk by a submarine and the Britisher Den of Crombie sunk either by a submarine or a mine. Its crew was saved.

French Menace Bulgarian Invaders

SALONIKI, Greece, Nov. 13.—Reports of the reoccupation of Valandovo by Bulgarian troops are untrue. Instead, it is said that the French now occupy strongly the region before Valandovo and Lohrovo, and are particularly well established in the hills commanding Costorino. They have progressed beyond Cerna.

Their reconnoiters have succeeded in advancing to the Vardar bridge, near Babuna pass. The bridge is destroyed.

Italians Use Interned German Ships

MILAN, Italy, Nov. 13.—The Italian government has decided to fit out and use German liners which have been interned here since the beginning of the war. Italy will seize them as prizes of war.

PROF. JAGGAR TO URGE KILAUEA NATIONAL PARK

Prof. Thomas A. Jaggar, director of the Volcano Observatory at Kilauea, will arrive in Honolulu early next week on his way to Washington to urge before congressional committee the establishment of the Kilauea National Park. This project, which has been advocated by Hawaii men for years, was explained to the congressional party which toured the islands last spring and was warmly favored by this party. Superintendent of Public Works, Forbes, who leaves for Washington on Wednesday, was preparing to urge the project in case no other representative of Hawaii were in Washington, but learned, upon wireless to Prof. Jaggar, that the scientist himself is planning to go to Washington at once. Jaggar is a member of the Hawaiian Agricultural Company for a reservoir and flume site in Kauai, also license to the Pioneer Mill Company at Wahiuli, Lahaina, Maui.
